Senators Challenge Lewis to Call Strike

LABOR LEADER CRITICISED FOR IGNORING PACT

Union Chiefs Advised To Prove Themselves To Be Patriots

UNION FIGURES RAPPED

Miners Making 50 Percent More Than Two Years Ago, Report Says

WASHINGTON, April 2—The senate Truman committee today sharply criticized John L. Lewis' threats to call a coal strike to obtain a wage increase for his miners, and asserted that the time has come for all labor leaders to prove themselves statesmen and patriots.

The committee's stand was bluntly set forth in a report based on a series of hearings on manpower in which it declared that the "Little Steel" wage formula is not sacred, but that any and every increase in wages is likely to have serious effect on prices and labor would suffer in the long run.

After pointing out that in war time the federal government must guarantee the right of both labor and management, the committee said:

"In the last analysis the leaders of labor must now demonstrate that they are statesmen and patriots as well as paid advocates of worthy causes. Labor has come of age, and the country expects these leaders to recognize that labor has duties as well as rights. Labor must not repeat the mistake of arrogant capitalism, which forged the shackles that now restrict its every act."

Lewis Condemned

"For these reasons the committee condemns Lewis' attitude in repeatedly asserting that he did not regard his promise to the President not to strike as 'necessarily binding.'"

"The obligation which rests upon Lewis is not an obligation arising by contract with the President. It is an obligation to the United States arising out of the war emergency. It is used upon his duty as a citizen to a country which enabled him to exchange the sweat and physical toil of a miner for the comforts and privileges of a labor executive."

Lewis "To Decide"

"Lewis has hinted, but not quite said, that he reserves the right to determine whether government has performed its full duty to labor and that in event he should determine that it has not, he is free to lead the coal miners to a strike which would cost the nation between two and three million tons of essential coal per day."

"No citizen has the right to jeopardize the nation's existence in war time. The national need must be recognized as paramount."

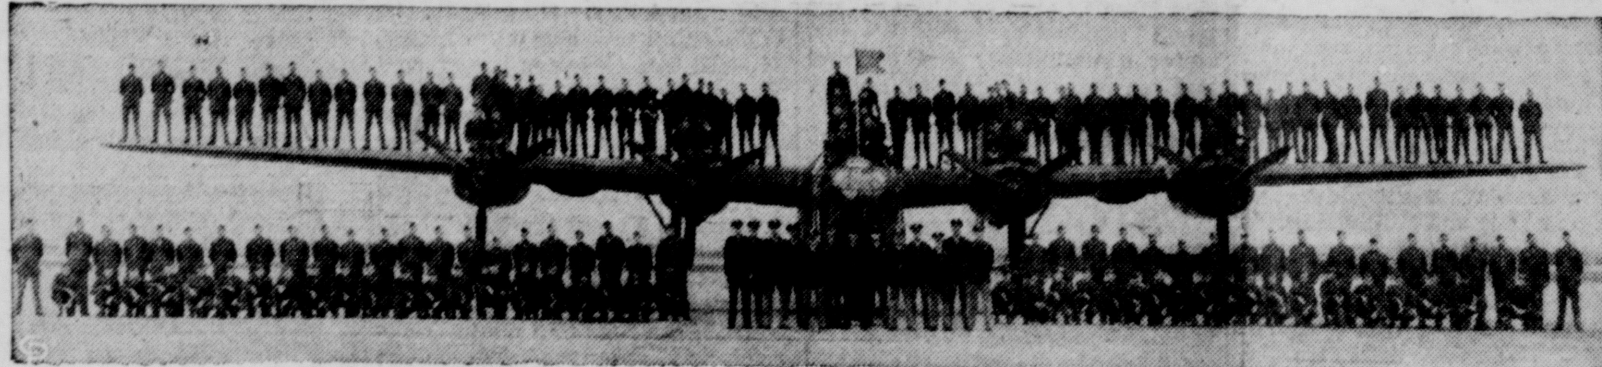

Then, after asking labor leaders everywhere to end strikes, jurisdictional disputes and improper action, the committee stated:

"Many labor leaders have recognized this and have sought to (Continued on Page Three)

Liberator A Sturdy Giant—This Picture Proves It

THE 1019th squadron, 174 men, surrounds a giant Consolidated B-24 Liberator bomber at the Army Air Forces Combat Crew school at Tarrant field, Texas. This picture gives you an idea of the immense size and great sturdiness of the plane. Eighty-two men (count 'em) put an approximate seven-ton load on the extensive wings. Thirteen squadron and assigned student flying officers, including Capt. Cecil W. McCollum, the commanding officer, are seen standing before the bomber's giant nose. Liberators soon may be flying at Lockbourne along with Flying Fortresses.

BANKHEAD BILL VETOED AS "DANGEROUS LEGISLATION"

WASHINGTON, April 2—President Roosevelt today vetoed the controversial Bankhead bill because, he said, "it breaks down the barriers we have erected and which we must maintain in order to avoid all the disasters of inflation."

The Bankhead bill would exclude incentive payments in computing the parity price to be paid for farm products.

Terminating the legislation "dangerous" to the entire war effort, President Roosevelt in a message accompanying the veto, declared also that "it is wholly inconsistent with our stabilization program."

The chief executive reiterated statements he made to congress last year that the purpose should be to hold farm prices at parity, or at levels of a recent date, whichever is higher.

"It is unfair to give the farmer a parity price and in addition give him far more than parity," the President said at that time. Today, he stated, "To this view I still hold."

In reiterating his determination to hold firm on the inflation front, the President declared that, "the time has come when all of us—farmers, workers, managers and investors—must realize that we cannot improve our living standards in a period of total war."

"On the contrary, we must all cut our standards of living for the duration. We must adopt simple wartime standards. We can all have enough if we do not try to get too much."

In his veto message, the chief executive said:

"I appeal to the considered judgment of the congress to reject the Bankhead bill which I am returning unsigned. It will not help the farmer with his immediate war difficulties. It will make it infinitely harder for the farmer to protect himself from wartime inflation and post-war chaos. It will add to the burdens of those most heavily burdened."

The President recognized that there has been an increase in the cost of living since May, 1942, "due mainly to our failure to bring food costs under control."

Despite this increase, President Roosevelt said, the war labor board is adhering "resolutely" to the Little Steel formula which compensates labor for increases in the cost of living only up until May, 1942.

OPA MAY DROP GRADE LABELS

Czar Brown Said To Have Changed Mind Since Indorsing Plan

WASHINGTON, April 2—Informed sources reported today that the Office of Price Administration probably will abandon a proposal for grade labeling of canned goods, meat and other commodities, designed to link quality with price control.

A final decision on the issue, which has assumed the nature of a controversial "second front" within the OPA, splitting the agency into opposing camps, is expected from Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown within a week or 10 days.

Although Brown publicly indorsed the proposal last February 26, he has since "reconsidered" as result of a storm of criticism that arose in congressional circles and protests against the move from canning interests.

Nonetheless, labor and consumer groups continued to demand institution of grade labeling.

An OPA spokesman said, however, that it is now "very doubtful" that Brown will go ahead with the undertaking.

The proposal has been thoroughly censured by Lou R. Maxon, information chief of OPA, and just as vehemently defended by J. K. Galbraith, deputy OPA administrator in charge of prices.

Maxon described grade labeling as "a reform measure." This description was denounced as "pure nonsense" by advocates of the step, who contend that there is no threat in grade labeling to established brand and trade names.

"Honest price control requires grade labeling," proponents of the action argue. "In setting specific price maximums, you must say what you are placing a ceiling on; how much, and what quality."

Otherwise, supporters of grade labeling contend, a manufacturer would be able to substitute the same amount of a product, but of a lower quality, and sell it at the price ceiling fixed by OPA for the highest grade.

President Stays On Sidelines As Fourth Term Battle Flares

WASHINGTON, April 2—The battle over a fourth term for Franklin D. Roosevelt was in full blast today although the President remains silently on the sidelines awaiting future developments before disclosing his 1944 plans to even his most intimate friends.

The battle came into the open when Rep. Fred Bradley (R) Mich., told the house that David K. Niles, White House attache, Justice Felix Frankfurter, of the supreme court, and Harold Laski, British economist, were directing a campaign to elect Mr. Roosevelt to a fourth term. Bradley charged the Niles-Frankfurter-Laski group with using the "war effort" to create the "most dangerous and unscrupulous political machine known in all times."

Bradley said that the Office of Civilian Defense was being used to furnish the "political machine," the Office of War Information used to supply the publicity and the Federal Communications Commission used to "control the radio" in support of the fourth term drive.

Short Campaign Sought

Democratic National Chairman Frank Walker meanwhile returned to Washington after a cross-country political-business tour to propose a "short-campaign" next year with the conventions in August and the electioneering limited to September (Continued on Page Three)

PRISONER SAYS CITY FULL OF LAW VIOLATORS

Circleville is full of men guilty of being habitual offenders against city laws. So writes William Maloney to Police Chief W. F. McCrady. Maloney is held in jail for trial under the habitual misdemeanor violator statute.

The chief received a letter, written from the jail Friday by Maloney, which names 40 Circleville men who should be in jail for repeatedly violating city ordinances. (Any one interested in learning whether his name is there may contact the chief.)

The letter goes on to recite the cost involved in putting all the men in jail and keeping them for a year each. Maloney's figures show the cost would be $14,000. He has the expense involved broken down into a per meal basis for each of the 40 named.

FOUR TONS OF CANS COLLECTED

Citizens Also Give Metal, Paper And Rubber To Salvage Drive

Four tons of cans, collected from Circleville homes, plus many hundreds of pounds of magazines, iron, rubber, rags, aluminum and brass, were delivered to Circleville salvage centers Thursday evening by high school boys and employees of the city's service department. Delivery of the scrap salvaged during the day's drive concluded a project which will be repeated the first day of each month in the county seat.

High school boys, including Hi-Y and Stodge club members under direction of Tom Armstrong of the school faculty, appeared on the streets early Thursday and remained busy until darkness halted activities. Residents of the city piled their scrap in front of their homes to aid the collectors.

Dan McClain, salvage chief, said cans gathered during the day weighed 8,000 pounds; magazines weighed 3,700 pounds; iron, 2,500 pounds; rubber, 310 pounds; rags, 150 pounds; aluminum, 20 pounds and brass 18 pounds.

A scrap drive will be conducted soon in the rural area, salvagers working with township trustees and implement dealers to perfect plans for the undertaking.

Pickaway county is expected to produce 300 tons of scrap materials each month.

FRIEDA HEMPEL STILL COLLECTS FROM HECKSCHER

NEW YORK, April 2—Frieda Hempel, former Metropolitan opera soprano, still receives $15,000 a year from the late August Heckscher, it was disclosed today.

Executors of the estate of the financier and real estate operator who died in 1941 in an intermediary accounting reported payments to Miss Hempel are continuing.

Almost twenty years ago Miss Hempel brought suit against Heckscher charging he had agreed to pay her $48,000 a year for life provided she gave up her concert and stage career. The suit was settled with an agreement to pay Miss Hempel $15,000 annually.

Assaults Increased As Enemy Shows Signs Of Boosting Strength

SUPPLY LINE WATCHED

Navy Men Believe That Nips May Seek Capture Of Island Base

WASHINGTON, April 2—Hard-hitting American airmen today are on the alert throughout the Pacific war zones for surprise Japanese thrusts against U. S. positions that might upset this nation's budding 1943 offensive plans.

From the Aleutians to the East Indies U. S. bombers and fighter planes have increased the frequency and intensity of their assaults as the Japanese showed signs of boosting their air strength.

While some military and naval experts have maintained that the Japanese are moving mainly for the defense of territory already seized, others have warned that the enemy may attempt again to cut the American supply line to Australia.

Secretary of War Stimson stated there was evidence that the Japs have increased their air strength in Burma, China and the southwest Pacific, but he also said that American planes "continue to outfight the best the enemy can bring against them."

Offensive Increased

Increasing intensity of America's aerial offensive is indicated by the fact that assaults have been stepped up in the three major battle zones: the Aleutians, the Solomons and the Australian areas.

In the Aleutians, U. S. army planes in March carried out more than 30 separate assaults against the Japs on Kiska and Attu. Recently an American warship task force drove off a Japanese squadron apparently moving reinforcements and supplies to Kiska.

In the Guadalcanal area nearly 300 separate air attacks have been carried out against Jap bases in the central and northern Solomons since last September. In the last few weeks, these bombing attacks have become daily events.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

The Italians are complaining that they lose more generals than anybody.

This is an honest belch and will be taken up at the next meeting of the League of Nations.

The league has permanent quarters upstairs over the world court.

If the world court is not in your phone book under the Utopia exchange, ring Murphy's bell and ask for Wallace, the common man.

As a matter of fact, the Italians have not lost many generals—we have them.

For punishment we have Mayor LaGuardia speaking Italian to them . . . his version of Italian.

If they survive we will return them to Italy or a reasonable facsimile after the war.

The reason Italy has mislaid so many generals is that they have so many. It is like our own days of '43 when we had so much gold braid in Washington a dimout was ineffective.

INDICTMENTS DENIED BY SIX

Only One Of Seven Men Pleads Guilty Of Accusations

Pleas of innocence featured arraignment Friday of prisoners indicted by the Pickaway county grand jury last Tuesday. Appearing before Judge Meeker Terwilliger, only one of seven indicted men admitted charges brought against him. He was Steve Burgoon of Circleville, charged with failing to provide for three minor children. He was remanded to jail pending sentence.

Six others, including three Circleville men who are charged with being habitual offenders of city ordinances, entered denials of indictments.

Trial dates will be set later, the court declaring that all pending cases will be disposed of as early as possible.

Coney Fred Nance, Monroe township, charged with a statutory offense involving a daughter, was remanded under $500 bond after he declared his innocence.

Edward Moran of Marion, charged with stealing the automobile of Willison Leist, Circleville, was returned to jail under $500 bond. Information obtained by local police shows Moran to be a loser in tilts with the courts several times previously.

Other not guilty pleas were voiced by Alva Heeter, Monroe township, charged with concealing stolen property, bond $500; William Maloney, Circleville, habitual offender, bond $300; Leroy Thompson, Circleville, habitual offender, bond $200; Lee Reynolds, Circleville, habitual offender, bond $300.

Leonard Massie, Monroe township, charged with larceny in theft of three guns from Denver Nance last Fall, is scheduled to appear Monday at 2 p. m. for arraignment.

HERSHEY SAYS FATHER DRAFT MOVES NEARER

WASHINGTON, April 2—Drafting of married men with children drew steadily nearer today.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, said that Selective Service headquarters is considering revoking its order of last Summer instructing local draft boards not to induct fathers with pre-Pearl Harbor dependents, who are maintaining a bona fide relationship with their families.

Hershey said that the time for reclassifying fathers is "approaching more rapidly than we like to think about," and indicated that the draft boards would probably have to start taking married men with pre-Pearl Harbor dependents about July 1.

The draft chief denied that any basic changes were being considered in the draft classification system, however. Questioned about reports that Selective Service officials are planning to abolish the dependency draft classifications—3-A, 3-B, and 3-C—he said:

"The WMC is engaged currently and perpetually in the restudy of classifications, thus meeting the changing conditions with the fluid manpower pool."

The coming induction of fathers, the farm labor situation and other draft problems will be discussed when the state draft directors meet in Washington Tuesday.

NAZIS IMPROVE STORY ABOUT REAR ADVANCE

NEW YORK, April 2—The Nazis "improved" today on the story about the army which advanced to the rear.

The Nazi-controlled Lyon radio said that Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's current retreat in Tunisia is an "offensive" operation, the U. S. foreign broadcast intelligence service reported.

"The offensive withdrawal of the axis forces continued along the whole of the Tunisian front," is the way the Lyon announcer put it.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, April 2—The navy reported today that U. S. bombers intercepted a Japanese squadron of five destroyers and one cargo vessel trying to land reinforcements in the Solomons while American fighting pilots shot down 16 Nipponese planes in a fierce aerial battle in the same area.

Six U. S. planes were lost in the latter engagement.

The Japanese force of five destroyers and one cargo vessel was intercepted southwest of Kolombangara island, headed for Munda with reinforcements and supplies.

The aerial dogfight occurred during the same period when 30 to 40 enemy zero fighters were intercepted by American Wildcats, Corsairs, and Lightning fighters northwest of Guadalcanal.

The Japanese force was attempting to slip into the enemy's central Solomons base under cover of darkness when it was spotted by one of the navy's Catalina patrol bombers which attacked immediately.

Britain's first army, pressing eastward across the northern tip of Tunisia, scored new advances today toward the axis-held naval base of Bizerte and the capital of Tunis.

Allied armies along the entire 200-mile front stretching southward to the Gafsa-Gabes area maintained heavy pressure on the Germans and Italians in strong patrol actions.

The Algiers radio said that Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's American forces driving eastward from El Guettar toward Gabes had effected a junction with the spearhead of the British eighth army pounding northward along the coast road but this was not substantiated by the official communique from allied headquarters.

Official confirmation also was lacking in another report by the Algiers station which said Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British troops were in contact with the fleeing Afrika Korps 25 miles north of Gabes.

INDICTMENTS DENIED BY SIX

Only One Of Seven Men Pleads Guilty Of Accusations

Pleas of innocence featured arraignment Friday of prisoners indicted by the Pickaway county grand jury last Tuesday. Appearing before Judge Meeker Terwilliger, only one of seven indicted men admitted charges brought against him. He was Steve Burgoon of Circleville, charged with failing to provide for three minor children. He was remanded to jail pending sentence.

Six others, including three Circleville men who are charged with being habitual offenders of city ordinances, entered denials of indictments.

Trial dates will be set later, the court declaring that all pending cases will be disposed of as early as possible.

Coney Fred Nance, Monroe township, charged with a statutory offense involving a daughter, was remanded under $500 bond after he declared his innocence.

Edward Moran of Marion, charged with stealing the automobile of Willison Leist, Circleville, was returned to jail under $500 bond. Information obtained by local police shows Moran to be a loser in tilts with the courts several times previously.

Other not guilty pleas were voiced by Alva Heeter, Monroe township, charged with concealing stolen property, bond $500; William Maloney, Circleville, habitual offender, bond $500; Leroy Thompson, Circleville, habitual offender, bond $200; Lee Reynolds, Circleville, habitual offender, bond $300. Leonard Massee, Monroe township, charged with larceny in theft of three guns from Denver Nance last Fall, is scheduled to appear Monday at 2 p. m. for arraignment.

NAZIS IMPROVE STORY ABOUT REAR ADVANCE

NEW YORK, April 2—The Nazis "improved" today on the story about the army which advanced to the rear.

The Nazi-controlled Lyon radio said that Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's current retreat in Tunisia is an "offensive" operation, the U. S. foreign broadcast intelligence service reported.

"The offensive withdrawal of the axis forces continued along the whole of the Tunisian front, is the way the Lyon announcer put it.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, April 2—The navy reported today that U. S. bombers intercepted a Japanese squadron of five destroyers and one cargo vessel trying to land reinforcements in the Solomons while American fighting pilots shot down 16 Nipponese planes in a fierce aerial battle in the same area.

Six U. S. planes were lost in the latter engagement.

The Japanese force of five destroyers and one cargo vessel was intercepted southwest of Kolombangara island, headed for Munda with reinforcements and supplies.

The aerial dogfight occurred during the same period when 30 to 40 enemy zero fighters were intercepted by American Wildcats, Corsairs, and Lightning fighters northwest of Guadalcanal.

The Japanese force was attempting to slip into the enemy's central Solomons base under cover of darkness when it was spotted by one of the navy's Catalina patrol bombers which attacked immediately.

By International News Service
Britain's first army, pressing eastward across the northern tip of Tunisia, scored new advances today toward the axis-held naval base of Bizerte and the capital of Tunis.

Allied armies along the entire 200-mile front stretching southward to the Gafsa-Gabes area maintained heavy pressure on the Germans and Italians in strong patrol actions.

The Algiers radio said that Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's American forces driving eastward from El Gueitar toward Gabes had effected a junction with the spearhead of the British eighth army pounding northward along the coast road but this was not substantiated by the official communiqué from allied headquarters. Official confirmation also was lacking in another report by the Algiers station which said Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British troops were in contact with the fleeing Afrika Korps 25 miles north of Gabes.

It was fully expected, however, that the time was not far distant (Continued on Page Three)

HERSHEY SAYS FATHER DRAFT MOVES NEARER

WASHINGTON, April 2—Drafting of married men with children drew steadily nearer today.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, said that Selective Service headquarters is considering revoking its order of last Summer instructing local draft boards not to induct fathers with pre-Pearl Harbor dependents, who are maintaining a bonafide relationship with their families.

Hershey said that the time for reclassifying fathers is "approaching more rapidly than we like to think about," and indicated that the draft boards would probably have to start taking married men with pre-Pearl Harbor dependents about July 1.

The draft chief denied that any basic changes were being considered in the draft classification system, however. Questioned about reports that Selective Service officials are planning to abolish the dependency draft classifications—3-A, 3-B, and 3-C—he said:

"The WMC is engaged currently and perpetually in the restudy of classifications, thus meeting the changing conditions with the fluid manpower pool."

The coming induction of fathers, the farm labor situation and other draft problems will be discussed when the state draft directors meet in Washington Tuesday.

Canning Corn Planting Lags and County AAA Urges Larger Acreage

Pickaway county AAA, headed by John G. Boggs, went to bat Friday for canners of the Pickaway county area when it urged farmers of the district to plant more corn for canning purposes.

The AAA office declared that it has received information in the last few days that, while Indian corn planting is expected to break all records, corn for canning purposes is lagging.

REAL ESTATE TAX PAYMENTS BREAK RECORD

Real estate tax collection for the first half of the year broke all records, County Treasurer Robert G. Colville declared Friday when he reported the total collected to be $263,491.62.

The treasurer said this amount was the highest collected since he had been in office.

Distribution of tax money to county subdivisions is not expected to take place for another month, only a part of the books being returned to the auditor's office where much work must be done before the distribution.

The treasurer has not yet broken down the collection to show how much of the tax money was received from delinquencies.

FARMER LOSES 350 POUND HOG OUT OF TRUCK

John Martindale of Deer Creek township is hunting for a 350 pound hog which apparently fell from his truck and was lost on Route 104 Thursday when the farmer was enroute to Columbus to market his stock.

Mr. Martindale was driving north when a woman driving another car stopped him and told him the end gate of his truck was open. The stock dealer closed the end gate, but didn't know the hog was missing until he reached market and checked his shipment.

Martindale believes the hog was lost between the Gwinn farm on Route 104 and Route 22. The farmer lives on the Cary Brown property.

SUGAR WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR HOME CANNING

BANKS PROMISED RELIEF FROM RATION WORK

Banks of Circleville, and throughout the nation, which have been flooded under the Office of Price Administration's ration banking program were promised relief Friday by the OPA which announced that it soon will revise the program.

Hundreds of ration banking accounts have been opened with Circleville banks by stores of all categories where ration stamps are used.

Under the plan outlined by OPA small stores, those which do less than $2,500 a month gross business, and also small eating places will be removed from the list permitted to use ration banking facilities.

Banks have been asked by OPA to continue accepting small accounts until the change is finally made.

The program as outlined calls for small eating places and other small businesses to be issued a special type of ration book similar to the meat-canned goods book now used by housewives.

This plan would eliminate the present complicated certificate system of ration points for smaller establishments although larger places would continue to use them.

Banks of the city have been swamped by the ration banking system, much time required for other work being devoted now to the rationing plan. Equipment to help handle the rationing banking has been purchased by the institutions.

The banks are paid a fee by the OPA for handling the work.

The Ed Wright public sale Wednesday up north on Route 23, had the best of weather which supplied a moderate crowd with prices feeling fair.

George Forquer just arrived home here yesterday from Parris Island, North Carolina. He belongs to the U. S. Marine corps doing general office work. But this, he thinks, may not last long and that he will be out on active duty before so long.

Eugene Wilson from the same spot here, is there and a part of the Marine corps, but yet in what they name "boot training." This is just a sort of preliminary work before real action begins. Herman Truex, home in Madison township, son of Clinton and Mrs. Truex, too, arrived here yesterday from Camp Bowie, Texas, for a ten-day furlough. He is a mechanic and along with our Byron Gulick, who is in the same sort of operation and there with him, keep the wheels turning. And a couple more of our local boys get mention. Ralph Carley and George Oday are doing army duty at Camp Swift, Texas and write home that all is well with them—work, eats and all.

Wednesday, the 31st of March, was the seventh birthday of little Donna Jean Wellington, daughter of Harry (Bo) and Mrs. Wellington and she thought of no better way to celebrate the event than to have a little party and invite all her first grade school mates as her guests. So with their teacher, Miss Vernadine LeMay, they all marched in good style down town to the Valley Creamery dining room and seated at a long and nicely decorated table, they were served with ice cream, cake and candy. It was a most happy time for all these little ones and much enjoyed. And naming them, they are: Betty Smith, Mary Shreck, Ellen Essick, Esther Toole, Janette Neff, Mona Summerfield, Donna Jean Wellington, Mary Ecard, Louise Nicholson, Fatty Wellington, Geraldine Miller, Joanne Bandy, Erma Gloyd, Anna Little, Carol Hines, Leona Dummitt, Ralph Tigner, Tobby Chaffin, Jerry Hollenbeck, Jackie Hutchinson, Edgar Gloyd, Bobbie Cline, Sharon Pontius, John Kaiser, Billy Robbins, Herbert Donaldson, Charles Tucker, Larry Cameron, Dick Foreman, Virgil Scharenberg, Dale Burris, Loy Six, Leonard Dummitt, Ralph Burns, Paul Le Master, Donald Deiber.

The Harrison township Board of Education, through orders handed down from the State Department of Education, will operate the South Bloomfield schools of eight grades with but two teachers the next school year, instead of the three formerly employed, so one of the board members told us yesterday.

Operating successfully an airplane is not such a big and bad job if you know how to do it. This is about what one of our local boys, William Sampson, Junior, thinks about it. He has been down near the gulf at Foster Field, located near Victoria City for the last two years now, and is one of a plane crew that keeps them flying. Young Sampson is an all-around mechanic and fits in anywhere a good hand is needed. He is the son of our William Sampson out near St. Paul and who told us what "this boy" is doing.

Canning Corn Planting Lags and County AAA Urges Larger Acreage

Pickaway county AAA, headed by John G. Boggs, went to bat Friday for canners of the Pickaway county area when it urged farmers of the district to plan to plant more corn for canning purposes.

The AAA office declared that it has received information in the last few days that, while Indian corn planting is expected to break all records, corn for canning purposes is lagging.

REAL ESTATE TAX PAYMENTS BREAK RECORD

Real estate tax collection for the first half of the year broke all records, County Treasurer Robert G. Colville declared Friday when he reported the total collected to be $263,491.62.

The treasurer said this amount was the highest collected since he had been in office.

Distribution of tax money to county subdivisions is not expected to take place for another month, only a part of the books being returned to the auditor's office where much work must be done before the distribution.

The treasurer has not yet broken down the collection to show how much of the tax money was received from delinquencies.

FARMER LOSES 350 POUND HOG OUT OF TRUCK

John Martindale of Deer Creek township is hunting for a 350 pound hog which apparently fell from his truck and was lost on Route 104 Thursday when the farmer was enroute to Columbus to market his stock.

Mr. Martindale was driving north when a woman driving another car stopped him and told him the end gate of his truck was open. The stock dealer closed the end gate, but didn't know the hog was missing until he reached market and checked his shipment.

Martindale believes the hog was lost between the Gwynn farm on Route 104 and Route 22. The farmer lives on the Cary Brown property.

SUGAR WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR HOME CANNING

Pickaway county War Price and Rationing office has been informed by the Office of Price Administration that home canners will be provided a reasonable amount of sugar for canning purposes this season.

Proposals to take canned goods ration points from home canners have been vetoed by price officials.

Application forms are to be made out in duplicate, the retailer submitting one to the rationing office and keeping the other.

Rationing office also asked retailers to refrain from putting War Ration Book No. 1 or No. 2 inside a sack in which groceries or other foodstuffs have been placed. Possibility of the sack, with the ration books being thrown into the furnace, was pointed out.

An appeal was also voiced by rationing board officers to persons who find rationing books on the street. Finders are asked to return the books to the owners or to the ration board.

Cheeses known as Longhorn and Daisy, both listed as Cheddar cheeses, are rationed, local office pointed out after receiving several requests for information on them.

LABOR LEADER CRITICISED FOR IGNORING PACT

effect it even at the danger of impairing their prestige and position with their own organizations. Such leaders are to be commended. Their example should be followed."

The forefront of the report referred generally to the need for controlling wages and prices to avert inflation and deplored the split among great labor unions.

Labor Split
"In these difficult times it is most unfortunate that labor is split into bitterly antagonistic camps, the leaders of which, for the preservation of their own positions and prestige, must compete with each other in an attempt to convince the rank and files of labor both organized and unorganized, that they and they alone are the true champions of labor's rights," the committee said.

At this point the committee stated that too many governmental agencies have their finger in the labor pie when the whole labor picture should be under centralized control which could cleave straight to the issues and announce a settlement.

It virtually accused Lewis of deception in presenting figures on wage increases as compared to living costs, and declared:

"John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, has protested the so-called 'Little Steel' formula as a violation of the agreement made with the President to outlaw strikes for the duration of the war. He now assumes to himself and those he represents the right to determine whether the coal miners are being accorded the treatment that he considers equitable."

"William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, have objected to the so-called 'Little Steel' formula because of its inflexibility."

No Permanent Rule
"The committee does not consider the 'Little Steel' formula is sacred or closed to discussion, but it does seriously and earnestly call labor's attention to the fact that any and every increase in wages is apt to have serious effect upon prices and that history has demonstrated conclusively that labor suffers more than anyone else in a wage price spiral of inflationary increases."

Answering what it termed a Lewis attempt to create an impression that miners are going hungry because they have not the wages to pay increased living costs, the committee continued:

"The evidence shows that coal miners now working six days a week at increased wages and with overtime for the sixth day are earning 50 percent more in dollars than they were earning two years ago when they worked only five days."

"Expressed in percentages, the (general) cost of living rose 19.6 percent and the cost of food — taken separately — rose 36 percent during the last two years."

"The practice of citing increases in prices without giving any effect to the increases in wages by reason of the longer work week and the payment of time and a half overtime therefore is general among labor leaders. The committee believes that in determining wages some consideration should be given to the total wages received for they are the true measure of labor's purchasing power."

The committee further asserted that labor leaders have not realized that the danger of inflation is real.

The committee denied Lewis' claim that the six day week had boosted production only 50 percent and itself put the increase at 80 percent.

SHOT IN LUNG MAY BE FATAL FOR DUELIST

LEXINGTON, April 2—Frank Hopkins, who shot and killed Andrew C. Pierson and then barricaded himself with his wife and four children in his home, was reported in serious condition today from a bullet wound in his lung which he received in the duel.

Hopkins had threatened to kill his family and himself rather than to submit to capture, but finally surrendered Tuesday 24 hours after the shooting affray with Pierson.

Hopkins was a tenant on the farm of the man he killed.

Under the proposal, canned goods would be labeled grade "A", "B" or "C" etc., with brand names remaining on the can. Grade labeling now is in effect on canned grapefruit juice and Brown previously announced that it would be applied to the entire 1943 pack of fruits and vegetables.

Provisions for grade labeling of tomatoes, corn and peas are contained in price regulations covering the 1943 pack of these commodities, but such vegetables are not yet being packed. The requirement subsequently may be scrapped.

PLANNED KILLING PRESIDENT, SAYS ARMY DESERTER

NEW YORK, April 2—Allegedly admitting that he had planned to kill President Roosevelt, Clarence C. Cull, 32-year-old self-described army deserter and escaped patient from a mental institution today was held for federal grand jury action.

The prisoner, seized in an east-side rooming house, possessed a quantity of nitric acid and glycerine, principal ingredients for manufacture of nitro-glycerine, several knives and an ice-pick.

YANK AIRMEN HEAVY PRESSURE ON ALERT FOR MAINTAINED ON JAP SURPRISE ENEMY FORCES

out the island-studied area from the East Indies to the northern Solomons.

Meanwhile, long-range U. S. planes have been extending their zone of operations from the south Pacific and recently struck at Nauru island, nearly 700 miles northeast of Guadalcanal.

In addition to harassing the Japanese, these assaults also provide valuable information as to disposition and movements of enemy fleet units and supply vessels. Some navy men have expressed the opinion that the Japs may attempt to upset America's 1943 offensive plans by capturing and holding for a while one of the U. S. island stepping stones on the sea route to Australia.

Recently the navy reported that two Jap planes dropped bombs on Canton island, a comparatively small but important air base about 1,000 miles south of Hawaii. Japanese propaganda broadcasts claimed three raids on Canton.

These developments foreshadow momentary outbreaks on the Pacific front as dramatic as the now famous battles of the Coral sea and Midway last year.

MRS. ETTA SWACKHAMMER, OF LAURELVILLE, DIES

Mrs. Etta Julia Swackhammer, 62, wife of Phillip Swackhammer and mother of Miss Nellie Swackhammer, a Circleville school teacher, died Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in Cherrington hospital, Logan. Her home was in Laurelville.

The inspection following a dinner served by Order of Eastern Star, Sam N. Nisley district deputy grand master, praised Russell N. Lape, worshipful master, and corps of officers for their work.

DRIVING THROUGH TRAFFIC LIGHT BRINGS TROUBLE

Circleville police learned Friday that they had made a good catch early Thursday when they nabbed William F. Van Hoose, 20, of Paintsville, Ky. The driver was caught after he drove through a red light in the downtown district. He was charged with driving without a license and was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Ben Gordon.

Checking with Marion police, Chief William McCrady learned that Van Hoose was wanted on a larceny charge in that city. The chief said Van Hoose will be returned to Marion.

Arrest was made by Patrolman Elmer Merriman and Special Officer Gale Wolfe.

when a link between the Americans and British at the southern end of the battlefield would be forged. Latest dispatches from the front said that Gen. Patton's army of tanks and infantrymen was making steady progress eastward along the Gafsa-Gabes road after crushing Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's defenses east of El Guettar.

Bombers Active
As Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson's first army advanced on Bizerte from Sedjenane allied bombers soared over the naval base to blast docks along the waterfront.

Poor weather restricted allied air assaults over a large part of the Tunisian front but American airmen succeed in blasting three airfields along the eastern coast and carried out fighter-plane forays against axis troops and transport columns from Fondouk south to El Guettar.

A large force of allied medium and light bombers bombarded the El Maou airfield at Sfax with good results. Light bombers started fires in sorties against the enemy landing fields at La Fouconnerie and El Djem, lying between Gabes and Sfax along the coast.

Axis Planes Destroyed
Nine axis planes were shot out of the air in dogfights while four allied craft failed to return from these missions.

The weight of bombs being showered down upon the Germans and Italians throughout the Mediterranean area was indicated in an announcement from Cairo revealing that the planes of the ninth United States air force alone plastered the enemy with 1,500,000 pounds of bombs during the month of March.

Action all along the vast Russian front remained desultory except in the west Caucasus where the Red army pressed an offensive through the Kuban territory. Three more inhabited localities were recaptured from the Germans as the Russian troops advanced in a campaign to regain control of the Black sea naval base of Novorossiysk, the Soviet high command announced at noon.

Quiet In Russia
Only local actions were reported from the central front west of Moscow. Both the Russians and Germans stabbed at each other's defenses. The Soviet communique said that all Nazi assaults had been subdued while Russian troops made headway on some sectors in the drive toward the large Nazi base at Smolensk.

Reduced action also obtained on the middle reaches of the northern Donets where the German counter-offensive has been brought to a standstill. The Russians acknowledged further small-scale German attacks but said all were repulsed.

Allied airmen in the southwest Pacific maintained assaults against Jap bases north of Australia. Three new attacks were reported in today's communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

The Jap-occupied Mubo area just south of their Salamaua base in northeast New Guinea was bombed and strafed by attack planes which left numerous fires burning in the area. A new block was struck at the docks in the harbor of Finschhafen while medium bombers blasted Saunlaki in the Tenimber island group.

and October. He refused to discuss a fourth term for the President or any other candidate, saying "it is too early."

Republican National Chairman Harrison D. Spangler immediately repudiated Walker's offer, declaring that the New Deal already has chosen its candidate—obviously Mr. Roosevelt. Calling Walker's suggestion of late conventions "shadow boxing" Spangler added:

"They will, of course, go through the form as they did in their third term convention in 1940 when their delegates merely danced to the music furnished by a few New Deal bandmasters."

Walker, however, declined to talk of nominees—even GOP possibilities, saying merely he had heard talk on his trip of Gov. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, Wendell Willkie, the GOP 1940 nominee, and Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota. He added that he heard "merry little" talk about Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York.

MRS. WHITE UNDER KNIFE
Mrs. Troy White of West Mount street, who has been a patient in Grant hospital, Columbus, for several weeks, underwent a successful major operation Thursday.

That battle in Tunisia is a merry-go-round, except that there isn't anything merry about it.

LABOR LEADER CRITICISED FOR IGNORING PACT

effect it even at the danger of impairing their prestige and position with their own organizations. Such leaders are to be commended. Their example should be followed.

The forepart of the report referred generally to the need for controlling wages and prices to avert inflation and deplored the split among great labor unions.

Labor Split

"In these difficult times it is most unfortunate that labor is split into bitterly antagonistic camps, the leaders of which, for the preservation of their own positions and prestige, must compete with each other in an attempt to convince the rank and files of labor both organized and unorganized, that they and they alone are the true champions of labor's rights," the committee said.

At this point the committee stated that too many governmental agencies have their finger in the labor pie when the whole labor picture should be under centralized control which could cleave straight to the issues and announce a settlement.

It virtually accused Lewis of deception in presenting figures on wage increases as compared to living costs, and declared:

"John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, has protested the so-called 'Little Steel' formula as a violation of the agreement made with the President to outlaw strikes for the duration of the war. He now assumes to himself and those he represents the right to determine whether the coal miners are being accorded the treatment that he considers equitable.

"William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, have objected to the so-called 'Little Steel' formula because of its inflexibility.

No Permanent Rule

"The committee does not consider the 'Little Steel' formula is sacred or closed to discussion, but it does seriously and earnestly call labor's attention to the fact that any and every increase in wages is apt to have serious effect upon prices and that history has demonstrated conclusively that labor suffers more than anyone else in a wage price spiral of inflationary increases."

Answering what it termed a Lewis attempt to create an impression that miners are going hungry because they have not the wages to pay increased living costs, the committee continued:

"The evidence shows that coal miners now working six days a week at increased wages and with overtime for the sixth day are earning 50 percent more in dollars than they were earning two years ago when they worked only five days.

"Expressed in percentages, the (general) cost of living rose 19.6 percent and the cost of food—taken separately—rose 36 percent during the last two years.

The committee believes that in determining wages some consideration should be given to the total wages received for they are the true measure of labor's purchasing power."

The committee further asserted that labor leaders have not realized that the danger of inflation is real.

The committee denied Lewis' claim that the six day week had boosted production only 50 percent and itself put the increase at 80 percent.

The weight of bombs being showered down upon the Germans and Italians throughout the Mediterranean area was indicated in an announcement from Cairo revealing that the planes of the ninth United States air force alone plastered the enemy with 1,500,000 pounds of bombs during the month of March.

Action all along the vast Russian front remained desultory except in the west Caucasus where the Red army pressed an offensive through the Kuban territory. Three more inhabited localities were recaptured from the Germans as the Russian troops advanced in a campaign to regain control of the Black sea naval base of Novorossiisk, the Soviet high command announced at noon.

Quiet In Russia

Only local actions were reported from the central front west of Moscow. Both the Russians and Germans stabbed at each others defenses. The Soviet communiques said that all Nazi assaults had been subdued while Russian troops made headway on some sectors in the drive toward the large Nazi base at Smolensk.

Reduced action also obtained on the middle reaches of the northern Donets where the German counter-offensive has been brought to a standstill. The Russians acknowledged further small-scale German attacks but said all were repulsed.

Allied airmen in the southwest Pacific maintained assaults against Jap bases north of Australia. Three new attacks were reported in today's communiques from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

The Jap-occupied Mubo area just south of their Salamaua base in northeast New Guinea was bombed and strafed by attack planes which left numerous fires burning in the area. A new block was struck at the docks in the harbor of Finschhafen while medium bombers blasted Saumlaki in the Tenimber island group.

and October. He refused to discuss a fourth term for the President or any other candidate, saying "it is too early."

Republican National Chairman Harrison D. Spangler immediately repudiated Walker's offer, declaring that the New Deal already has chosen its candidate—obviously Mr. Roosevelt. Calling Walker's suggestion of late conventions "shadow boxing" Spangler added:

"They will, of course, go through the form as they did in their third term convention in 1940 when their delegates merely danced to the music furnished by a few New Deal bandmasters."

Walker, however, declined to talk of nominees—even GOP possibilities, saying merely he had heard talk on his trip of Gov. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, Wendell Willkie, the GOP 1940 nominee, and Gov. Harold E. Stassen, of Minnesota. He added that he heard "very little" talk about Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York.

TO SCRAP SALVAGERS

ALL: Circleville's one day scrap drive in which tin cans, magazines and scrap metals of all kinds were sought was a success, but there were scores and scores of homes which did not even try to cooperate with scrap collectors. Are there any Circleville homes which do not have some surplus magazines? Are there any homes which have not been using canned goods and which do not have some cans lying around that could play a role in the war effort? Are there any properties where some iron, steel, brass, copper or some other metal is not lying around in the way? There are few residents of the town who could not have helped a little in the drive to pile high the salvaged materials which are needed to beat the axis. Persons picking up scrap goods found house after house that did not even put out a single can, or single magazine or single piece of scrap metal. The drive was pretty successful despite the lack of interest shown by local residents. I hope that every person in which will recognize the need for scrap goods before the first of next month arrives so they can have a role, also, in the drive.

TO DEFENSE UNITS

ORGANIZATION: With April 15 fixed tentatively as the date for the district's initial blackout, members of your organizations have less than two weeks left in which to prepare for the big test which will be marked by appearance of Ohio Civilian Defense officials and army men. These observers will check participation and efficiency of operation of the various defense units in Circleville and Pickaway county. The blackout will provide a true test for the county's alerting system. I hope that all Civilian Defense corps will check up on all angles of their work to ascertain that every detail no matter how minute it may be is taken care of. Let's make the blackout a 100 percent success in the city and in the county.

TO 4-H CLUB YOUTH

BOYS, GIRLS: You youngsters of the county are preparing for your season's activities, and I hope that each club is organized this year at its full strength. Four-H boys and girls and youngsters making up Vocational Agriculture classes have a great job to do in the war effort. There is a role for each of you. The other day announcement was made of a nation-wide wartime food and marketing contest for 4-H boys and girls, with handsome awards to be made to winners. Applications for participation in the program are available at the office of F. K. Blair, county farm agent. I urge each of you to take an interest in the competition, contact Mr. Blair to learn what the undertaking is all about, and go to work. You might be fortunate enough to win a high rating and some of the honors that accompany winning the contest. There are jobs to be done by girls as well as by boys, so I hope that every one who has a part in 4-H activities will really put a shoulder to the wheel and start shoving.

TO B, C CARD HOLDERS

MOTORISTS: A couple of weeks ago Office of Price Administration announced that drivers holding supplemental B and C gasoline ration cards and asking for renewals would have to prove that they are hauling at least three other persons with them to their work, or else proving that circumstances prevent such a ride sharing plan. Local persons didn't think much of the idea at the time; at least nothing much was done about it. Now, OPA has reiterated the ruling, this time to local War Price and Rationing boards and the government agency intends that the regulation should be made to stick. Information on the question was discussed this week when Pickaway and Fairfield county rationing boards met in Lancaster. Same information was provided for each board, and each is expected to take firm steps in an effort to slow down driving when cars are not carrying the allotted number of persons to and from work. There are a good many B and C ration cards in Circleville and Pickaway county which may soon be replaced by A rations if the share-the-ride plan is not complied with in a more complete manner.

It is important that every child be treated against this disease. Many parents have already signed papers that permit their children to undergo the immunization treatment; a few have refused to permit immunization. These people are taking a chance on their own children's lives. These youngsters should be treated with the others. There are probably some parents who are not acquainted with details of the immunization program and how important proper treatment is for their children. Any parents who wish more information on the program may obtain it by telephoning the health office, No. 391.

TO HOUSEWIVES

ALL: March, 1943, may long be known to housewives as the first month of point system. No one seems to talk about much else—except for dropping in a point or two about Tunisia. The family wrestles with its food points and the allied armies take Tunisian points. Somehow or other, the month ended without too many casualties on the home front. A, B and C coupons are gone and grocers handled a rush the last day or two in good style, many housewives having points to spare as the A, B and C period ended. The folk who decree how many points shall attach to which food are learning a great deal, too. Fruit juices will not be so pointed from now on. Statistics will mean more in April, however, because nearly all homes started with a few cans on hand. Everyone takes a long breath and starts the next month with less dread. After all, the housewife has advanced through groceries bristling with points and has emerged unharmed. Meat points? She's handling those all right, too, when there is meat to buy.

Nervous Dyspeptics and Their Varied Troubles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
ON THE subject of dyspepsia this week we have already considered the gaseous type of dyspepsia and the secretory type. Today I want to discuss the purely functional dyspepsia which goes under the name of nervous dyspepsia. "He is a nervous dyspeptic." That label hung on a person is a lifelong nickname. It means, of course, that the person is uncomfortable because he worries about his digestion, and when he begins to worry about it he always makes it worse.

Automatic Things

There are some mechanisms of this universe that should be turned over to Almighty God. In the body these are the automatic things that happen whether you will them to or not. You can move a muscle voluntarily, you can focus your eyes on some print voluntarily, but by taking all the thought in the world you can't make the last few inches of your intestine move and, equally, you can't make it stay still.

If you begin to worry about your watch and wind it every five minutes and shake it and bang it on the window sill, you will eventually get the watch really out of order. The same thing applies to your digestive apparatus.

Always Being Treated

Of course, every once in a while some nervous dyspeptic turns up and fools everybody by having a serious organic disease like cancer or gallstones; but if he has been having dyspepsia for 20 years, he usually deserves the label "nervous dyspeptic." He is always taking pills; he is always going on a diet; he likes such fads as the compatible diet; he is always getting re-x-rayed; he is always having his stomach pumped, and in the meanwhile he looks in the best of health—except for the woebegone expression on his face—and maintains his weight and general activity.

I once had a patient on whom I tried every known treatment for dyspepsia and finally she told me that when she was a little girl her father had dyspepsia all his life and her earliest recollection was that at mealtime she had to go to the sideboard and get him a pink pill before meals and then go after meals and bring him a blue pill. Naturally she was obsessed with the idea that her digestion was weaker than other people's. We were able to take her out of it.

Psychological Treatment

These people often have some sort of associated anatomical changes which may or may not explain their condition. For instance, they often have a dropped stomach. But other people have dropped stomachs too and don't have dyspepsia, so I judge that in every case the dyspepsia is more or less functional.

Treatment of these cases should be directed towards clearing up the patient's misconceptions. In other words, it should be psychological. The worst thing to do to them is to give them some kind of physical treatment such as putting them on a diet or giving them massage or putting a corset on them.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. D., no address—"Please explain what is meant by night blindness. I have an eleven-month-old boy who is color blind. He is taking vitamin A. Does that mean he will never be able to go to school? Will glasses help any?"

Answer: Night blindness is an inability to see in the dark. It is purely a deficiency disease and will be corrected by the use of vitamin A. It certainly does not mean that the child will never be able to go to school. Glasses will not help.

The BLIND MAN'S SECRET

by RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Everyone thought Agatha Brown was an old maid, but she had been secretly married for 25 years to Prof. Otto Halder of Western college. She had left him in World War because she learned he was a traitor.

The girl she called her niece, Clementine, was really her daughter. Not even Clementine knew it. Every one else who had known it was dead. Now, in World War II, Agatha discovers the professor is again going to sell one of his inventions to the enemy. Deep in her heart she still loves him, but thinks his death the best way out of their dilemma. He is found slain. Estelle Blossom, a student who claims she was engaged to marry the professor, accuses Clementine of the crime as the police interview the women in the hall outside the professor's room. (NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

AGATHA NOTICED that the door of the professor's room had partly opened. Lieutenant Larkey stood there quietly listening. Now he spoke up.

"And what was the nature of the professor's invention?" Dr. Hill started. "Oh—I didn't see you! He—he was a specialist in radio. He was perfecting a remote control for an aerial torpedo."

"Why would that be reason for murder?"

"I know of two foreign powers that would risk anything to learn the secret."

The lieutenant stroked his chin. "You mean, one might murder him to prevent the invention from going to the other?"

"Exactly—after the first spy obtained the secret. And tonight, for the first time, he might have learned what he wanted from Professor Halder."

"That complicates our problem. Representatives of three countries may be involved."

Estelle was watching the lieutenant with wide eyes. "Three?" she asked. "Certainly," he told her brusquely. "The United States government is interested, and if I don't act fast the FBI will take this case right out of my hands." He turned to Dr. Hill again. "Just how important is this aerial torpedo?"

"It would make possible the bombing of the enemy without risking the lives of a crew in a bombing plane. Moreover, I believe the torpedo is supposed to be almost silent, small and with transparent wings to make it very difficult to locate, until too late."

"Horrible!" said Agatha. Everyone looked at her. Dr. Hill protested. "But think what the United States will be able to do with a weapon like that!"

"War," declared Agatha, "is murder—nothing but murder." The word suddenly stuck in her throat. What was she saying!

"One murder at a time is enough for me," asserted the lieutenant. "And entirely too much for me, or for my college," the president told him. "Lieutenant, what are you going to do to catch the man who did this—this dastardly thing?"

"That's what I expect you to tell me. Who were Professor Halder's enemies? Who would be anxious to steal or destroy his invention?" "You mean, in a general way? What countries are interested?" "I mean, specific. Name 'em. Were any students especially familiar with the professor? Did any member of the faculty try to pry his secret out of him? Have any strangers been around here lately?"

"It—it's the beginning of the school term. All of the freshmen are new, of course. I don't know of any others you might call strangers. And as for members of the faculty, I assure you I wasn't trying to pry his secret out of him. What I've told you about it is general knowledge, at least among the science staff."

"No one is accusing you."

"I—I really don't think the professor had any enemies."

"Oh, come now!" Cassidy sniffed. "Just a lot of friends—one of them with a knife."

Dr. Hill frowned. "But why do we assume the killer is a familiar figure on the campus? He—or she—may be an outsider—someone sent here for the job of killing Otto."

Larkey nodded. "Right. I've thought of that very thing, and it has me worried. Usually something in the personal history of the murdered man gives us a lead to work on. But if this is international warfare we will have to throw overboard all our usual methods of detection. They would only slow us up."

"Shure, and if this guy's first name was Otto, 'twasn't no Nazi killed him," declared O'Brien. "Don't be too sure of that," said Larkey. "Remember, the professor was working for the United States government. There are plenty of good Americans with German names."

"I don't trust 'em."

Dr. Hill prodded the police on. "Are there any clues?"

"We found nothing except the knife," the lieutenant told him. "Part of the bedding was dragged onto the floor, indicating a struggle. Professor Halder was lying on the floor when we broke in, but he was too weak to speak. We learned nothing from him."

"Is there any chance it could have been an accident? Couldn't he have dragged the clothes with him in falling to the floor?"

Lieutenant Larkey stared at the college president in amazement. "An accident—when a man is stabbed in the back, between his shoulder blades?"

"Oh-h-h. In the back? I didn't know." Dr. Hill fumbled with his goatee. "Was there no other evidence? It all seems too impossible, right here in the dormitory, in a locked room. If a murderer really came here he must have left some trace."

"Now are you trying to tell me it's not murder?"

"No, of course I suppose it must be. But if that is a fact, you'll find something when you search the room more thoroughly."

"We've been over every inch of it," Larkey admitted. He looked worried. "We found nothing—unless you want to consider as evidence a hairpin we found lying on the floor."

The college president stared at him aghast. "A hairpin! In our men's dormitory—in Professor Halder's room? I can't believe it!"

"It was here. Either the killer was a woman, or a woman was in the room before the crime was committed." He swung the door wider so they could all see. "Maybe one of you will have some suggestions. I confess I'm stumped. This is the room just as we found it, except for the hairpin which has been put away for safe keeping. There's the knife on the floor, a very heavy hunting knife with a needle sharp point. Nothing else in the way of evidence."

He was staring at the bed. "Good Lord! What's that?"

Cassidy and O'Brien jumped forward. Dr. Hill craned his neck to see past them. Only the women hung back.

"Shure," exclaimed O'Brien, "it's a piece o' cotton!"

"Absorbent cotton!" ejaculated the lieutenant. "It wasn't lying on the bed a moment ago. Look. It's soaking up the blood where Halder was stabbed! Someone's been in this room while my back was turned! Someone has been trying to destroy evidence!"

● SENATOR BURTON K. WHEELER of Montana and Rep. John H. Rankin of Mississippi, in their respective congressional chambers, have been leading the legislative fight to prevent creation of what they consider altogether too much of an executive absoluteism in the United States, as a matter (so it's represented) of wartime necessity.

Senator Wheeler has described the proposed regulations as "the most dangerous piece of lawmaking ever presented in American history." Rep. Rankin says they aim at the creation of a Yankee "Gestapo."

Although he doubtless was the recipient of numerous suggestions from other administration potentates, perhaps from as high up as the White House tenant, Attorney General Francis Biddle is recognized as having drafted the program under discussion. Its adverse critics, seeking to stigmatize it as unpleasantly as possible, refer to Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation as the plan's prospective "Himmler."

Sabotage is strictly prohibited, of course; but so is the acquisition of information that might conceivably be utilized for purposes of sabotage. In other words, if A plots sabotage, and if B so much as suspects that A is doing so, B becomes a participant in the atrocity unless he serves immediate notice upon the FBI.

Then let the FBI do its own probing. Senator Wheeler, Rep. Rankin's and their sympathizers' theory is, though, that such a system will make us a nation of intolerable anopsers.

Penalties for disregard of the rules are middling severe also. They range all the way from a $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison up to death before a firing squad, on a gallows or the electric chair, or in a lethal chamber. I understand that the culprit can choose by which method he is due to be extinguished.

These observers will check participation and efficiency of operation of the various defense units in Circleville and Pickaway county. The blackout will provide a true test for the county's alerting system. I hope that all Civilian Defense corps will check up on all angles of their work to ascertain that every detail no matter how minute it may be is taken care of. Let's make the blackout a 100 percent success in the city and in the county.

BOYS, GIRLS: You youngsters of the county are preparing for your season's activities, and I hope that each club is organized this year at its full strength. Four-H boys and girls and youngsters making up Vocational Agriculture classes have a great job to do in the war effort. There is a role for each of you. The other day announcement was made of a nation-wide wartime food and marketing contest for 4-H boys and girls, with handsome awards to be made to winners. Applications for participation in the program are available at the office of F. K. Blair, county farm agent. I urge each of you to take an inter-

Inside WASHINGTON

By CHARLES P. STEWART

● SENATOR BURTON K. WHEELER of Montana and Rep. John H. Rankin of Mississippi, in their respective congressional chambers, have been leading the legislative fight to prevent creation of what they consider altogether too much of an executive absoluteism in the United States, as a matter (so it's represented) of wartime necessity.

Senator Wheeler has described the proposed regulations as "the most dangerous piece of lawmaking ever presented in American history." Rep. Rankin says they aim at the creation of a Yankee "Gestapo."

Although he doubtless was the recipient of numerous suggestions from other administration potentates, perhaps from as high up as the White House tenant, Attorney General Francis Biddle is recognized as having drafted the program under discussion. Its adverse critics, seeking to stigmatize it as unpleasantly as possible, refer to Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Justice Department's Bureau of Investigation as the plan's prospective "Himmler."

Sabotage is strictly prohibited, of course; but so is the acquisition of information that might conceivably be utilized for purposes of sabotage. In other words, if a plot is being hatched, and if B so much as suspects that A is doing so, B becomes a participant in the atrocity unless he serves immediate notice upon the FBI.

Then let the FBI do its own probing.

Senator Wheeler's, Rep. Rankin's and their sympathizers' theory is, though, that such a system will make us a nation of intolerable neopoles.

Penalties for disregard of the rules are middling severe also. They range all the way from a $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison up to death before a firing squad, on a gallows or the electric chair, or in a lethal chamber. I understand that the culprit can choose by which method he is due to be extinguished.

Opponents of the pending measure do not so much object to the

You might be fortunate enough to win a high rating and some of the honors that accompany winning the contest. There are jobs to be done by girls as well as by boys, so I hope that every one who has a part in 4-H activities will really put a shoulder to the wheel and start shoving.

TO B, C CARD HOLDERS

MOTORISTS: A couple of weeks ago Office of Price Administration announced that drivers holding supplemental B and C gasoline ration cards and asking for renewals would have to prove that they are hauling at least three other persons with them to their work, or else proving that circumstances prevent such a ride sharing plan. Local persons didn't think much of the idea at the time; at least nothing much was done about it. Now, OPA has reiterated the ruling, this time to local War Price and Rationing boards and the government agency intends that the regulation should be made to stick. Information on the question was discussed this week when Pickaway and Fairfield county rationing boards met in Lancaster. Same information was provided for each board, and each is expected to take firm steps in an effort to slow down driving when cars are not carrying the allotted number of persons to and from work. There are a good many B and C ration cards in Circleville and Pickaway county which may soon be replaced by A rations if the share-the-ride plan is not complied with in a more complete manner.

TO PARENTS

ALL: Circleville health office is working out a program which it hopes will immunize every first grade pupil in the city from the ravages of diphtheria. It is important that every child be treated against this disease. Many parents have already signed papers that permit their children to undergo the immunization treatment; a few have refused to permit immunization. These people are taking a chance on their own children's lives. These youngsters should be treated with the others. There are probably some parents who are not acquainted with details of the immunization program and how important proper treatment is for their children. Any parents who wish more information on the program may obtain it by telephoning the health office, No. 391.

TO HOUSEWIVES

ALL: March, 1943, may long be known to housewives as the first month of point system. No one seems to talk about much else—except for dropping in a point or two about Tunisia. The family wrestles with its food points and the allied armies take Tunisian points. Somehow or other, the month ended without too many casualties on the home front. A, B and C coupons are gone and grocers handled a rush the last day or two in good style, many housewives having points to spare as the A, B and C period ended. The folk who decree how many points shall attach to which food are learning a great deal, too. Fruit juices will not be so pointed from now on. Statistics will mean more in April, however, because nearly all homes started with a few cans on hand. Everyone takes a long breath and starts the next month with less dread. After all, the housewife has advanced through groceries bristling with points and has emerged unharmed. Meat points? She's handling those all right, too, when there is meat to buy.

proportions of the various inflections. They are prepared to believe that death is preferable to the ordinary individual to the fine it is proposed to soak him with. Ten thousand dollars? Phooey! A fat chance the government has got to collect that from the average citizen!

The criticism is that the accused individual gets no trial before an impartial court, but is due to be Gestapo-ed. And the worst of it is, it is feared, is that the system is not purely temporary.

Prophets like Senator Wheeler and Rep. Rankin forecast that it will last on into indefinite futurity. It has happened before, they assert, why not again?

Incidentally, according to both the senator, the representative and their supporters, an American free press is attacked.

It was not so in the last war. An attempt was made to influence it, but there was not any pressure. There is some, this time. In that instance the papers were TOLD things. In this instance they are at least advised what to SAY.

With congenial dyes agitating for a restoration of prohibition, there approaches the anniversary of 3.2 per cent beer's legalization, on April 7, 1933.

That event did not mean that absolute prohibition was ended. That had to wait until the constitutional amendment was rescinded. However, it signified a definition as to what's an intoxicant. It seems now that 3.2 per cent is not intoxicating.

That degree is served at our Army canteens. The boys say it is good stuff.

As previously remarked, army posts serve suds up to 3.2 per cent, which is not violent, according to expert alcoholic calculations. It is a bad habit, though, prohibitionists allege.

Army authorities disagree with them. Their reasoning is that the lads, cut off from a reasonable amount of sociability, tend to burn around and absorb a higher degree of intoxicants. Commercial beer runs up to higher percentages or a trifle above that.

Furthermore, it is pointed out that an Army canteen's surroundings are far better than those a conscript is due to be headed into on dry premises.

Up to 3.2 per cent, then, the Army can safely be taken as having prohibition—if that is prohibition.

"Now we'll really see whether he's interested in boats or not!"

Nervous Dyspeptics and Their Varied Troubles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

ON THE subject of dyspepsia this week we have already considered the gaseous type of dyspepsia and the secretory type. To-day I want to discuss the purely functional dyspepsia which goes under the name of nervous dyspepsia.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

"He is a nervous dyspeptic." That label hung on a person is a lifelong nickname. It means, of course, that the person is uncomfortable because he worries about his digestion, and when he begins to worry about it he always makes it worse.

Automatic Things

There are some mechanisms of this universe that should be turned over to Almighty God. In the body these are the automatic things that happen whether you will them to or not. You can move a muscle voluntarily, you can focus your eyes on some print vol- untarily, but by taking all the thought in the world you can't make the last few inches of your intestine move and, equally, you can't make it stay still.

If you begin to worry about your watch and wind it every five minutes and shake it and bang it on the window sill, you will eventually get the watch really out of order. The same thing applies to your digestive apparatus.

Always Being Treated

Of course, every once in a while some nervous dyspeptic turns up and fools everybody by having a serious organic disease like cancer or gallstones; but if he has been having dyspepsia for 20 years, he usually deserves the label "nervous dyspeptic." He is always taking pills; he is always going on a diet; he likes such fads as the compatible diet; he is always getting re-x-rayed; he is always having his stomach pumped, and in the meanwhile he looks in the best of health—except for the woe-begone expression on his face—and maintains his weight and general activity.

I once had a patient on whom I tried every known treatment for dyspepsia and finally she told me that when she was a little girl her father had dyspepsia all his life and her earliest recollection was that at mealtime she had to go to the sideboard and get him a pink pill before meals and then go after meals and bring him a blue pill. Naturally she was obsessed with the idea that her digestion was weaker than other people's. We were able to take her out of it.

Psychological Treatment

These people often have some sort of associated anatomical changes which may or may not explain their condition. For instance, they often have a dropped stomach. But other people have dropped stomachs too and don't have dyspepsia, so I judge that in every case the dyspepsia is more or less functional.

Treatment of these cases should be directed towards clearing up the patient's misconceptions. In other words, it should be psychological. The worst thing to do to them is to give them some kind of physical treatment such as putting them on a diet or giving them massage or putting a corset on them.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. D., no address—"Please explain what is meant by night blindness. I have an eleven-month-old boy who is color blind. He is taking vitamin A. Does that mean he will never be able to go to school? Will glasses help any?"

Answer: Night blindness is an inability to see in the dark. It is purely a deficiency disease and will be corrected by the use of vitamin A. It certainly does not mean that the child will never be able to go to school. Glasses will not help.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

The BLIND MAN'S SECRET

by RICHARD HOUGHTON
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Everyone thought Agatha Brown was an old maid, but she had been secretly married for 25 years to Prof. Otto Halder of Western college. She had left him in World War I because she learned he was a traitor.

The girl she called her niece, Cle-mantine, was really her daughter. Not even Cle-mantine knew it. Every-one else who had known it was dead.

Now, in World War II, Agatha discovers the professor is again going to sell one of his inventions to the enemy. Deep in her heart she still loves him, but thinks his death the best way out of their dilemma. He is found slain. Estelle Blossom, a student who claims she was engaged to marry the professor, accuses Cle-mantine of the crime as the police interview the women in the hall outside the professor's room.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

AGATHA NOTICED that the door of the professor's room had partly opened. Lieutenant Larkey stood there quietly listening. Now he spoke up.

"And what was the nature of the professor's invention?"

Dr. Hill started. "Oh—I didn't see you! He—was a specialist in radio. He was perfecting a remote control for an aerial torpedo."

"Why would that be reason for murder?"

"I know of two foreign powers that would risk anything to learn the secret."

The lieutenant stroked his chin. "You mean, one might murder him to prevent the invention from going to the other?"

"Exactly—after the first spy obtained the secret. And tonight, for the first time, he might have learned what he wanted from Professor Halder."

"That complicates our problem. Representatives of three countries may be involved."

Estelle was watching the lieutenant with wide eyes. "Three?" she asked.

"Certainly," he told her brusquely. "The United States government is interested, and if I don't act fast the FBI will take this case right out of my hands." He turned to Dr. Hill again. "Just how important is this—this aerial torpedo?"

"It would make possible the bombing of the enemy without risking the lives of a crew in a bombing plane. Moreover, I believe the torpedo is supposed to be almost silent, small and with transparent wings to make it very difficult to locate, until too late."

"Horrible!" said Agatha.

Everyone looked at her. Dr. Hill protested, "But think what the United States will be able to do with a weapon like that!"

"War," declared Agatha, "is murder—nothing but murder." The word suddenly stuck in her throat. What was she saying!

"One murder at a time is enough for me," asserted the lieutenant.

"And entirely too much for me, or for my college," the president told him. "Lieutenant, what are you going to do to catch the man who did this—this dastardly thing?"

"That's what I expect you to tell me. Who were Professor Halder's enemies? Who would be anxious to steal or destroy his invention?"

"You mean, in a general way? What countries are interested?"

"I mean, be specific. Name 'em. Were any students especially familiar with the professor? Did any member of the faculty try to pry his secret out of him? Have any strangers been around here lately?"

"It—it's the beginning of the school term. All of the freshmen are new, of course. I don't know of any others you might call strangers. And as for members of the faculty, I assure you I wasn't trying to pry his secret out of him. What I've told you about it is general knowledge, at least among the science staff. I—"

"No one is accusing you."

"I—I really don't think the professor had any enemies."

"Oh, come now!"

Cassidy sniffed. "Just a lot of friends—one of them with a knife."

Dr. Hill frowned. "But why do we assume the killer is a familiar figure on the campus? He—or she—may be an outsider—someone sent here for the job of killing Otto."

Larkey nodded. "Right. I've thought of that very thing, and it has me worried. Usually something in the personal history of the murdered man gives us a lead to work on. But if this is international warfare we will have to throw overboard all our usual methods of detection. They would only slow us up."

"Shure, and if this guy's first name was Otto, 'twasn't no Nazi killed him," declared O'Brien.

"Don't be too sure of that," said Larkey. "Remember, the professor was working for the United States government. There are plenty of good Americans with German names."

"I don't trust 'em."

Dr. Hill prodded the police on. "Are there any clues?"

"We found nothing except the knife," the lieutenant told him. "Part of the bedding was dragged

Mrs. George McGhee Is Bridge Club Hostess

Guest Group Honored At Party

Mrs. George McGhee of near Atlanta entertained her bridge club and an additional table of guests Thursday at her home. In the guest group were Mrs. Russell Wardell of near Williamsport; Mrs. Robert Pennig of Washington, C. H.; Mrs. Elmer Hagley and Mrs. Pharo Osborne of the Atlanta community. Members attending included Mrs. McKinley Kirkpatrick, Washington, C. H.; Mrs. Paul Peck, Mrs. John Farmer Jr., Mrs. Charles Drake, Mrs. Wendell Evans, Mrs. Van Meter Hulise and Mrs. Ulin McGhee.

Following the games, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Evans served a tempting salad course at the small tables which were centered with lovely vases of flowers, featuring yellow jonquils.

Prizes were carried home by Mrs. Farmer, who won club high; Mrs. Pennig, guest high; Mrs. Evans, traveling, and Mrs. Ulin McGhee, consolation.

Mrs. Pearl Ater will be hostess to the club at the May session.

G. B. Missionary Society

Women's Missionary society of the United Brethren church met Thursday with Miss Gladys Noggle of South Washington street, new president of the group. During the business hour, plans were made to attend the annual Southeastern Ohio Women's Missionary conference to be April 25-30 at the Fifth avenue U. B. church, Columbus.

Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. J. E. Hutton were named as a committee to plan with the Otterbein Guild girls for the regular Mother-Daughter meeting to be held in May.

The program in charge of Mrs. Frank Hawkes included group singing; prayer by Mrs. M. C. Kirkwood and Mrs. Ralph Long; interesting talks on missionary work in Santo Domingo by Mrs. Edward Millions, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Hutton.

A period of meditation and singing of the prayer chorus closed the meeting. Light refreshments were served to 26 members and visitors by the hostess, assisted by Miss Mary Ruth Noggle.

Miscellaneous Shower

Honoring Miss Suzanne Hays of Columbus, Miss Jane Davis and Miss Pauline Gross entertained recently at a miscellaneous shower at their apartment, 1354 Fourth street, of that city. Miss Hays will become the bride of Lieutenant Joseph Billman of Wooster at a wedding Sunday at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkpatrick, of New Holland.

After the many lovely gifts were opened by Miss Hays, refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by their mothers, Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Guy Gross, of Delaware. In addition to Columbus friends those present were Mrs. John T. Dick, Mrs. George Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Galen Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Marcus Cotterill, Mrs. Wendell Morrison, Mrs. Harvey Morrison, Mrs. Gordon Dunkel and Miss Erma Mace.

Mr. Mowery Honored

James Mowery, superintendent of the Pickaway County Home, who is celebrating his birthday anniversary today, was honored Thursday at a surprise dinner party. Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Mowery gathered at their home in the evening providing a delightful cooperative meal for the occasion.

Enjoying the dinner and pleasant informal evening were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shride, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Valentine, Miss Mary Dresbach, Mr. and Mrs. Berman Wertman, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Liston and son, Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hedges, Mrs. Eva Hedges, Mr. and Mrs. George Goodchild, Mr. and Mrs. M. ## Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

Proper Drainage for Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

A WET GARDEN—even a Victory garden—will not grow good vegetables. When water stands anywhere in the top two feet of the garden the soil becomes cold, soggy and so poorly aerated that the beneficial bacterial activity ceases and the plants are likely to rot and die. If water stands on the surface soil for more than two hours after a heavy rainfall it indicates that additional drainage is required.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, a side-ditch run-off is an effective, yet inexpensive method of providing supplementary drainage for the garden. The depth of a side-ditch will vary according to conditions.

The ditch should drain into a nearby creek or even a deeply dug hole filled with stones. The best method for a permanent drainage system is by tiling, as illustrated. If the area to be drained is small, a single line of drain tile will serve. The tile should be laid 2 1/2 feet deep. For large areas do not place the lines of tiles less than 25 or 30 feet apart. The drains must lead to an outlet and should have a fall of 3 inches in every 100 feet. Cover the joints with several inches of cinders or gravel.

Sometimes the problem of drainage can be solved by merely breaking up the sub-soil so that water will drain away through it.

Peter and John Become Disciples of Christ

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 4 is John 1:29-42; Mark 1:16-20, the Golden Text being Mark 1:16-17, "And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after Me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.")

AFTER JOHN the Baptist had said that One was coming after him "whose shoe I am not worthy to untie," some time after he had baptized Jesus, John saw Jesus coming, and said, "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world. This is He of whom I said, After me cometh a man which is preferred before me: for He was before me."

John also said that he had seen the "Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and it abode upon Him." Also, "I saw and bare record that this is the Son of God."

The next day John saw Jesus walking and said, "Behold the Lamb of God." Two of John's disciples were with him at the time, and they followed Jesus. You see there was no sense of rivalry in John's heart.

He recognized that his cousin, whom he had known all his life, was the greater One of the two, and was only anxious for others to recognize Him as the real Saviour.

"What Seek Ye?"

When the disciples followed the Master, Jesus looked around at them and asked, "What seek ye?" They answered, "Rabbi, (which is to say, Master), where dwellest Thou?" He said to them, "Come and see," and they went with Him and stayed with Him that day, asking Him many questions, there is no doubt, although no account of the conversation is given in any of the gospels.

One of these men was Andrew, brother of Simon Peter, the very first of the disciples. He went to his brother and said, "We have found the Messiah," and took Simon to Jesus. When Jesus saw Simon, he said, "Thou art Simon, the son of Jonas; thou shalt be called Cephas, which is Peter, meaning a stone or rock." Now Peter did not always live up to this name. He was often vacillating and weak, as when he denied his Master and swore he had nothing to do with Him when Jesus was under arrest. Toward the end of his life, however, after Jesus had been crucified and risen to Heaven, Peter was as steadfast as any rock and finally suffered martyrdom for his faith.

A great many of the events told in the gospel of Jesus took place on the Sea of Galilee. Most of the disciples lived on its shores. In Mark 1:16, he tells of Jesus walking by the sea and seeing Simon and Andrew his brother, casting their nets into the sea, for they were fishermen. Jesus said to them, "Come after Me, and I will make you to become fishers of men."

Fishermen Followed the Lord.

And these hardy fishermen straightway left their nets and followed their Lord, nor ever parted from Him again until He left them, when they founded the early church, going about preaching His gospel and making converts until the end of their lives. And when Jesus had gone a little farther He saw James, son of Zebedee, and John, his brother, who also were mending their nets, and He called them, "and they left their father Zebedee in the ship with the hired servants, and went after Him."

There must have been something very commanding about Jesus, whom we have been taught to think of as "meek and mild." These humble fishermen seem to have had no hesitation whatever in leaving their work and their homes and going with Him, staying with Him always, living with him and loving him. They gave Him such talents as they had—their willingness to serve, to live humbly, to be loyal, to share with the group. They had no traditions to overcome, as scholars and churchmen would have had. They recognized the Master, and followed Him willingly, with faithful hearts and minds, able to understand His teachings, and to follow in His footsteps as "fishers of men."

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

Proper Drainage for Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

A WET GARDEN—even a Victory garden—will not grow good vegetables. When water stands anywhere in the top two feet of the garden the soil becomes cold, soggy and so poorly aerated that the beneficial bacterial activity ceases and the plants are likely to rot and die. If water stands on the surface soil for more than two hours after a heavy rainfall it indicates that additional drainage is required.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, a side-ditch run-off is an effective, yet inexpensive method of providing supplementary drainage for the garden. The depth of a side-ditch will vary according to conditions.

The ditch should drain into a sewer, nearby creek or even a deeply dug hole filled with stones. The best method for a permanent drainage system is by tiling, as illustrated. If the area to be drained is small, a single line of drain tile will serve. The tile should be laid 2 1/2 feet deep. For large areas do not place the lines of tiles less than 25 or 30 feet apart. The drains must lead to an outlet and should have a fall of 3 inches in every 100 feet. Cover the joints with several inches of cinders or gravel.

Sometimes the problem of drainage can be solved by merely breaking up the sub-soil so that water will drain away through it.

bridge resulted in the first and traveling awards going to Mrs. Robert Denman; second to Mrs. John Carle and consolation to Mrs. Roy Beatty.

The group was served a salad course at one long table at the close of the evening.

Circle 2

Mrs. George E. Gerhardt will have charge of the program for Circle 2 of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church at the meeting Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. L. Sprouse, 361 East Main street. Mrs. Edgar Carmean is circle chairman.

Frankie Frisch Has Hopes for Buc Team

By Charles J. Doyle

MUNCIE, Ind., April 2 — His roster shows only four infielders, but they're all ball hawks of the six-foot variety, and they're all in the pink, so Frankie Frisch, the old Fordham Flash, thinks his Pirates will cut some first-division capers in the impending National league fight. He is confident despite the recent loss of several key performers, who are in the service or are working in defense plants. Verily, the Flash might partially solve his infield puzzle, the most serious problem on the club, if only he would give Frankie Frisch a tryout. Rationing and the point system concerning food, unfortunately, have not interfered seriously with Frank's epicurean tastes with the result that he is about 25 pounds heavier than he was when he did his stuf.

Aside from the infield, Frisch is well fortified in numbers, even with fellows like Ken Heintzelman, Al Wilkie, Huck Geary and Babe Phelps missing from the Pirate picture. He has a flock of outfielders, plenty of pitchers and two dependable catchers in Al Lopez and Bill Baker. But if one of his first defense men get wounded or becomes ill—well, the Flash will be between the devil and the deep blue sea, unless he gets himself or Jake Flowers ready for the emergency.

The Pirate infield, however, is made up of four youthful and durable boys. To wit: Elbie Fletcher, at first; Pete Coscarart at second; Frankie Gustine, at short, and Bob Elliot at third.

DiMaggio There

In the outfield it looks like a six-man fight for the two jobs flanking clever Vince DiMaggio, ball hawk of the center range. Vince's batting average of last season was not pleasing to him or his supporters, but he packs such a long punch that he probably will be back at his regular post where he performs with the grace of a ballet dancer. In a defensive way he seems to be the tops among Pirate centerfielders of the past quarter of a century.

Jack Barrett, Jimmy Wadwell, Frank Colman, Maurice Van Robays, Johnny Wyrostek and Jim Russell makeup the sextet of out-

WYOMING FIVE WINS NATIONAL COLLEGE TITLE

NEW YORK, April 2—The University of Wyoming's Cowboy five today was crowned champions of the basketball world following a thrilling overtime game which made more than 18,000 fans sit on the edge of their seats.

The score was 52 for the Cowboys to 47 for St. John's, victor of the national invitation tournament. Proceeds of this game as well as a preliminary in which Georgetown bested Toledo 54 to 40, went to the American Red Cross.

Just two minutes before the end of the second period, St. John's, trailing 46 to 38, broke loose on a sleeper play followed by a series of lightning dashes which brought the score to 46 all. A final score in the period made by Wyoming was ruled out because St. John's, ten seconds before the close asked for time out and was ignored, so the game went into a third period.

It only took the westerners forty-five seconds to make it 48 to 46 against the Brooklyn Redmen. The Cowboys then coasted to victory.

Concensus had it however, that the Brooklynites were far from the team that romped home with the national invitation title.

In the Georgetown-Toledo game, the Washingtonians led 23 to 19, maintaining that lead to the end of the game.

Total realized from the games by the Red Cross was estimated to be $24,000 while fans, during half-times, donated an additional $4,865 by bidding for the balls used in the contests. Top offer was made by Ralph Simon who bid $1,000.

DOERR, HUGHSON STAR

MEDFORD, Mass., April 2—Bobby Doerr stood out today as the most promising slugger and Tex Hughson an unchallenged hurler following a stiff practice period in which the two stars out-performed the rest of their Red Sox team mates.

HENRY RETURNS TO FACE BEAU JACK IN GARDEN

Armstrong Back At Scene Where Fans Two Years Ago Saw Defeat

ZIVIC FIGHT RECALLED

Veteran's Only Chance Is To Clip Georgia Boy When Boring In

By Davis J. Walsh

NEW YORK, April 2—Henry

Armstrong, only man in all the history of boxing to hold three world's championships simultaneously, is to return tonight to the scene where triumph and disaster were equally his. He is coming back to Madison Square Garden where once he won championships as rapidly as their defenders could be persuaded to meet him. And where, a little more than two years ago, he himself was hashed and bashed and so blinded by his own blood that the quality of mercy could no longer remain strained and they stopped it in the twelfth round.

That was the Fritzie Zivic welterweight championship fight, a conspiracy of horrors that went on unendingly until cynical, case-hardened gazes turned aside, heads were bowed with the shame of it and voices called out in protest that such things could longer endure. They thought they were "burying" Henry Armstrong with honors in the garden ring that night.

But miraculously he's back again this evening, with an 18,000 crowd and a $90,000 gross in prospect, and meeting Beau Jack, holder of one of the titles that once belonged to Armstrong, namely, the 135-pound lightweight championship of the world. The title will not be in question tonight, the distance being 10 rounds and the conditions strictly catchweight, on a come-as-you-want basis.

Return Is Triumph

However, the fact that he's back at all is a triumph in itself; a triumph of the spirit and mind and will of men like himself who decline to accede to what seems the inevitable, and so force their destiny to be not their master, but their servant—if only for the time being. For Armstrong did not walk back into renewed prosperity. Nor did he slide in by the rear entrance, while nobody was noticing.

He fought his way back, winning 16 out of 18 fights in the last year, one of his victims being the same Zivic who had cut him up into fillet mignon the night all of us believed, with a feeling of great certainty, that Armstrong was through.

He's met some good and bad ones since then, a few pretty fair sort of country fighters and some outright bloopers. Tonight, he's probably taking on the toughest of the lot; a young punk colored kid from Georgia with a rather amazing story in his own right. An illiterate caddy from Bobby Jones's Augusta links who got to fight a little when times were good and to shining shoes, when they weren't; and finally was financed into action around here by a syndicate of golfers, bankers, advertising men and kibitzers in general.

He acquired the lightweight championship by stopping Allie Stolz and tipping over Tippy Larkin, both of whom nailed him. But didn't keep him nailed.

Courage Key Word

That's one thing the guy's got: Courage, supplemented by a pretty fair punch and the supreme gusto of youth. That's one reason why he was 9-5 over Armstrong in the odds last night; and there are probably other reasons, equally valid. For age really never comes back. It may get a temporary respite, maybe even the right to join up with the new mob . . . as long as it is generally useful.

But it's against nature to return all the way, wipe out the years as effectually as though they never had been and fight within two-thirds of the ability he knew in his period of greatest competency. However, in one respect Armstrong's come back is complete:

If he helps to draw $90,000 a night at $11.50 ringside, he'll be drawing more money into the garden than a fight featuring so called "little men" has done since the Armstrong-Ambers meeting in 1938; also the best gate the garden has had in a year since the Louis-Abe Simon fight, which drew $132,000 at $16.50 ringside.

For the rest, Armstrong has one chance—that he can clip Beau Jack coming in, and hurt him. In fact, you've got to hurt the Beau in order to stop him coming in, which in turn gives Henry quite a chance; since the Beau, being solely a swinger, has got to come and is almost certain to be badly clipped at times. But he's young, and probably can pass that off with a snigger.

Sky's the Limit

AREN'T YOU stretching things a bit too far, Johnny Lindell? The new Yankee first sacker—he was a pitcher previously—is 6 feet 4 and when wild throws come his way Johnny reaches way up there to bring 'em down. The Yanks are practicing at Asbury Park, New Jersey. (International)

TWO YANK CASUALTIES RECOVERING FROM FLU

ASBURY PARK, N. J., April 2—Two Yankee casualties were back on the training field today after tryouts following personal encounters with the "flu".

Ken Sears, rookie catcher, and Tiny Bonham, ace pitcher of last season, seemed to benefit by the workout although both looked pale and a bit wobbly as they trotted out on the field.

KINGSTON

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Pyle and son of near Williamsport. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood and daughter, Mary Kay of Kingston, were entertained at dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Jones of Chillicothe.

NORFOLK TEAM TAKES SENATORS INTO CAMP

NORFOLK, Va., April 2—The Washington Senators today attempt to make up for the 10 to 5 shellacking they took yesterday from the Norfolk naval training team. Composed mostly of big league stars who have entered the service, the navy club blasted out 13 hits, including homers by Benny McCoy and Phil Rizzuto. Jake Early and Gerry Priddy pounded out home runs for the Nationals.

HEUSSER, FOX LOOKING GOOD FOR CINCINNATI

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 2—Two pitchers of the Cincinnati Reds had six consecutive innings on the mound each to their credit today.

Ed Heusser and Howard Fox each hurled that stretch as the "veterans" won a 6 to 3 victory over the "colts" with Third Baseman Burt Haas contributing a double and two singles to the winner's attack.

Frankie Frisch Has Hopes for Buc Team

By Charles J. Doyle

MUNCIE, Ind., April 2—His roster shows only four infielders, but they're all ball hawks of the six-foot variety, and they're all in the pink, so Frankie Frisch, the old Fordham Flash, thinks his Pirates will cut some first-division capers in the impending National league fight. He is confident despite the recent loss of several key performers, who are in the service or are working in defense plants.

Verily, the Flash might partially solve his infield puzzle, the most serious problem on the club, if only he would give Frankie Frisch a tryout. Rationing and the point system concerning food, unfortunately, have not interfered seriously with Frank's epicurean tastes with the result that he is about 25 pounds heavier than he was when he did his stuff.

Aside from the infield, Frisch is well fortified in numbers, even with fellows like Ken Heintzelman, Al Wilkie, Huck Geary and Babe Phelps missing from the Pirate picture. He has a flock of outfielders, plenty of pitchers and two dependable catchers in Al Lopez and Bill Baker. But if one of his first defense men get wounded or becomes ill—well, the Flash will be between the devil and the deep blue sea, unless he gets himself or Jake Flowers ready for the emergency.

The Pirate infield, however, is made up of four youthful and durable boys. To wit: Elbie Fletcher, at first; Pete Coscarart at second; Frankie Gustine, at short, and Bob Elliot at third.

DIMaggio There

In the outfield it looks like a six-man fight for the two jobs flanking clever Vince DIMaggio, ball hawk of the center range. Vince's batting average of last season was not pleasing to him or his supporters, but he packs such a long punch that he probably will be back at his regular post where he performs with the grace of a ballet dancer. In a defensive way he seems to be the tops among Pirate centerfielders of the past quarter of a century.

Jack Barrett, Jimmy Wasdell, Frank Colman, Maurice Van Robays, Johnny Wyszostek and Jim Russell make up the sextet of outfielders who are fighting it out for the other pasture roles.

WYOMING FIVE WINS NATIONAL COLLEGE TITLE

NEW YORK, April 2—The University of Wyoming's Cowboy five today was crowned champions of the basketball world following a thrilling overtime game which made more than 18,000 fans sit on the edge of their seats.

The score was 52 for the Cowboys to 47 for St. John's, victor of the national invitation tournament. Proceeds of this game as well as a preliminary in which Georgetown bested Toledo 54 to 40, went to the American Red Cross.

Just two minutes before the end of the second period, St. John's, trailing 46 to 38, broke loose on a sleeper play followed by a series of lightning dashes which brought the score to 46 all. A final score in the period made by Wyoming was ruled out because St. John's, ten seconds before the close asked for time out and was ignored, so the game went into a third period.

It only took the westerners forty-five seconds to make it 48 to 46 against the Brooklyn Redmen. The Cowboys then coasted to victory.

Consensus had it however, that the Brooklynites were far from the team that romped home with the national invitation title.

In the Georgetown-Toledo game, the Washingtonians led 25 to 19, maintaining that lead to the end of the game.

Total realized from the games by the Red Cross was estimated to be $24,000 while fans, during half-times, donated an additional $4,865 by bidding for the balls used in the contests. Top offer was made by Ralph Simon who bid $1,000.

DOERR, HUGHSON STAR
MEDFORD, Mass., April 2—Bobby Doerr stood out today as the most promising slugger and Tex Hughson an unchallenged hurler following a stiff practice period in which the two stars out-performed the rest of their Red Sox team mates.

Henry Returns To Face Beau Jack In Garden

NEW YORK, April 2—Henry Armstrong, only man in all the history of boxing to hold three world's championships simultaneously, is to return tonight to the scene where triumph and disaster were equally his. He is coming back to Madison Square Garden where once he won championships as rapidly as their defenders could be persuaded to meet him. And where, a little more than two years ago, he himself was hashed and bashed and so blinded by his own blood that the quality of mercy could no longer remain strained and they stopped it in the twelfth round.

That was the Fritz Zivic welterweight championship fight, a conspiracy of horrors that went on unendingly until cynical, case-hardened gazes turned aside, heads were bowed with the shame of it and voices called out in protest that such things could longer endure. They thought they were "burying" Henry Armstrong with honors in the garden ring that night.

But miraculously he's back again this evening, with an 18,000 crowd and a $90,000 gross in prospect, and meeting Beau Jack, holder of one of the titles that once belonged to Armstrong, namely, the 135-pound lightweight championship of the world. The title will not be in question tonight, the distance being 10 rounds and the conditions strictly catchweight, on a come-as-you-want basis.

Return Is Triumph
However, the fact that he's back at all is a triumph in itself; a triumph of the spirit and mind and will of men like himself who decline to accede to what seems the inevitable, and so force their destiny to be not their master, but their servant—if only for the time being. For Armstrong did not walk back into renewed prosperity. Nor did he slide in by the rear entrance, while nobody was noticing.

He fought his way back, winning 16 out of 18 fights in the last year, one of his victims being the same Zivic who had cut him up into fillet mignon the night all of us believed, with a feeling of great certainty, that Armstrong was through.

He's met some good and bad ones since then, a few pretty fair sort of country fighters and some outright bloopers. Tonight, he's probably taking on the toughest of the lot; a young punk colored kid from Georgia with a rather amazing story in his own right. An illiterate caddy from Bobby Jones's Augusta links who got to fight a little when times were good and to shining shoes, when they weren't; and finally was financed into action around here by a syndicate of golfers, bankers, advertising men and kibitzers in general.

He acquired the lightweight championship by stopping Allie Stolz and tipping over Tippy Larkin, both of whom nailed him. But didn't keep him nailed.

Courage Key Word
That's one thing the guy's got: Courage, supplemented by a pretty fair punch and the supreme gusto

of youth. That's one reason why he was 9-5 over Armstrong in the odds last night; and there are probably other reasons, equally valid. For age really never comes back. It may get a temporary reprieve, maybe even the right to join up with the new mob... as long as it is generally useful.

But it's against nature to return all the way, wipe out the years as effectively as though they never had been and fight within two-thirds of the ability he knew in his period of greatest competency. However, in one respect Armstrong's come back is complete:

If he helps to draw $90,000 a night at $11.50 ringside, he'll be drawing more money into the garden than a fight featuring so called "little men" has done since the Armstrong-Ambers meeting in 1938; also the best gate the garden has had in a year since the Louis-Abe Simon fight, which drew $132,000 at $16.50 ringside.

For the rest, Armstrong has one chance—that he can clip Beau Jack coming in, and hurt him. In fact, you've got to hurt the Beast in order to stop him coming in, which in turn gives Henry quite a chance; since the Beau, being solely a swinger, has got to come, and is almost certain to be badly clipped at times. But he's young, and probably can pass that off with a snigger.

AREN'T YOU stretching things a bit too far, Johnny Lindell? The New Yankee first sacker—he was a pitcher previously—is 6 feet 4 and when wild throws come his way Johnny reaches way up there to bring 'em down. The Yanks are practicing at Asbury Park, New Jersey. (International)

TWO YANK CASUALTIES RECOVERING FROM FLU

ASBURY PARK, N. J., April 2—Two Yankee casualties were back on the training field today after tryouts following personal encounters with the "flu".

Ken Sears, rookie catcher, and Tiny Bonham, ace pitcher of last season, seemed to benefit by the workout although both looked pale and a bit wobbly as they trotted out on the field.

Veteran's Only Chance Is To Clip Georgia Boy When Boring In

BOLAND WITH MCCARTHY

Mary Boland, who can be acid-tongued when necessary, will doubtless find it necessary when she does a guest appearance with Charlie McCarthy next Sunday. Bill Thompson will also drop in on the half-hour over NBC at 7 p. m.

The most recent state presentation in which Miss Boland starred was a revival of "The Rivals." Bill Thompson, of course, does the voices of "Boomer," "Ole Timer," and "Mr. Whipple" on the Fibber McGee program. Bill brings an original set of characterizations to the McCarthy show.

Dale Evans and Ray Noble's orchestra complete the talent lineup for the popular Sunday night feature.

CROSBY, HOPE BOOKED

"The Road to Morocco," the latest and most hilarious of the screen adventures of Bing Crosby and Bob Hope, will be the feature presentation of the Lux Radio Theatre, Monday, April 5. The one-hour radio adaptation, which co-stars the film duo in their original roles, will be heard over the Columbia network at 8 p. m.

In the role of "Princess Shalmar," the romantic interest of the "road" boys who leads them a merry chase across the sands of North Africa, is Ginny Simms, radio singing star, in her first dramatic part. Miss Simms, as the intended bride of the desert sheik, who falls for the visitors from "over the sea," will have several opportunities to join Crosby and Hope in singing the hit tunes of the picture.

tal of 30 shows in seven days for the armed forces. Included are appearances on "Command Performance," the servicemen's own short-wave program, Hollywood Canteen, Minter Field, Lake Norcorian Hospital, Mare Island Navy Yard, Mare Island Hospital, Pittsburg, Calif., Replacement Depot Oak Knoll Hospital, McEllan Field, Maher Field and the Hollywood Canteen again. Incidentally, Kay has signed still another vocalist, Diane Pendleton, formerly of the Music Makers on the Bing Crosby airings. You may recall that when he pacted Trudy Erwin she was a Music Maid and now Trudy is back with Crosby as a soloist.

WAR LOAN BROADCAST

Radio stations from coast to coast will combine their efforts in the greatest money-raising campaign in history, when they devote their entire facilities on Monday, April 12, to launching the United States Treasury Department's Second War Loan drive. All sustaining and commercial programs will be aimed at selling government securities, and special events broadcasts will be planned with that objective in mind. Stations will carry a special "Treasury Star Parade" transcription, a half-hour condensation of the book "This Is America," by Eleanor Roosevelt and Frances Cook Mac-

Gregor, with Fredric March as star. Sale of 13 billion dollars in government securities is the drive's goal.

GROUCHO GIGGLES

Hedda Hopper and those outlandish Hopper hats will draw the barbs of Groucho Marx on his "Blue Ribbon Town," on Saturday, April 3, at 9:15 p. m., over WBNS. The noted newspaper and radio columnist will be Groucho's second guest on his new fun program. Hedda will come to "Blue Ribbon Town" as a visiting columnist, and Groucho will elect himself her "leg man," to dig up news for her. That deadpan singer-comedienne, Virginia O'Brien, won't make it any easier! Baritone Donald Dickson and Robert Armbruster's orchestra fill in the musical picture.
